Child and Adult Care Food Program

Do you have a child care center, after school program, emergency shelter or adult day care program? Want help serving healthy meals?

The New York State Department of Health's Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP) pays for meals and snacks served to children up to age 13 (for some programs up to age 19) and adults enrolled in care. Most programs are eligible – from small child care centers to large community service organizations.

What are the benefits of CACFP?

Reimbursement is paid monthly for meals and/or snacks served to day care participants. Registered dietitians, accountants and other CACFP staff will assist you to plan healthy meals and meet program requirements.

How much reimbursement will I receive?

The amount of reimbursement is determined by the type of meal served. Also, centers that serve low-income households receive higher reimbursement.

What are the meal requirements?

- Breakfast consists of milk, a vegetable or fruit, and a grain or bread. You may serve a meat or meat alternate in place of the grain or bread up to three times per week.
- Lunch and Supper require milk, bread or grain, meat or meat alternate, two vegetables, or a vegetable and a fruit.
- A Snack consists of two of the following: milk, meat or meat alternate, bread or grain, a vegetable, or a fruit.

What types of programs are eligible?

- Licensed child care centers serving children age 12 and under or migrant children age 15 and younger.
- After school programs serving children up to age 13. Programs must be licensed/registered or have been determined to be exempt from licensing/registration.
- After school programs for teens over the age of 12 are eligible if they are located in a low-income area.
- Adult day care programs serving functionally impaired participants or adults age 60 and older. Adult day care programs must have approval to operate from a state or local agency.
- Emergency shelters that serve children up to age 19 living with a parent or guardian. Shelters must have approval to operate from a state or local agency.

Eligible organizations are ones that have been granted tax-exempt status (usually 501(c)(3)) from the Internal Revenue Service, public schools and other government entities.

For-profit organizations are eligible if at least 25% of the participants are low-income.
