APPLICATION SUBMISSION:

Q1. What is the definition of “Contractor?” Is it the hospital/Private Practice that employs the Physician? If so, does the Contractor have to complete portions of the information in the application even if it is completed by the Physician individually? If that is the case, what is the Contractor supposed to provide in order for the application to be considered complete?

A: The “Contractor” would be the one responsible for all aspects of the practice support contract, if awarded. The signatory on the application, whether a facility or individual physician, would be the one who would ultimately be responsible for all aspects of the contract, and for assuring the completeness of the application, including all requested information.
