Section 114.8. Cannabinoid Hemp Product Requirements. Amended to repeal previous CBD and THC level requirements and establish a new combined CBD and THC ratio, which is CBD dominate, for CBD and THC amounts permitted in cannabinoid hemp products not including flower products or topical products (not orally consumed); restrict the total amount of THC to 10 milligrams per package and 1 milligram per-serving size if the cannabinoid hemp product is orally consumed; add new rules for packaging certain cannabinoid hemp products, such as the use of resealable packages; and clarify the requirements that apply to inhalation and vaporization products.

Section 114.9. Packaging and Labeling of Cannabinoid Hemp Products. Amended, amongst other things, to expand the category of products which must comply with federal food labeling provisions; adds specific labeling and packaging standards on certain products requiring information about serving amounts be affixed on the container of such products and clarifies the way serving quantities are to be presented for products other than flower, topical, or concentrated cannabinoid hemp products intended for inhalation or vaporization; authorizes the Office greater flexibility to make policy determinations regarding what information, including but not limited to markings and symbols, are displayed; establishes a new mandate which prohibits any cannabinoid hemp product offered for retail sale to be made attractive to individuals under twenty-one years of age; amends warning label parameters concerning pet safety and clarifies the format required when labeling such products; and strengthens requirements concerning the accuracy of the content on the label and any purported claims thereof.

Section 114.12. Advertising Requirements. Amended to regulate further how licensees advertise their products and ensure that product CBD to THC content or statements or any other advertising is accurate and not misleading.

Section 114.14. General prohibitions. Non-substantive technical amendments were made to section 114.14.

Section 114.15. Cannabinoid Hemp Processor Prohibitions. Changes prohibit cannabinoid hemp processors from processing any final cannabinoid hemp products for retail sale which exceed the maximum total THC limits per serving and per package as set forth in this Part.

Section 114.16. Cannabinoid Hemp Retailer Prohibitions. Amended to include a prohibition on retailers offering or selling cannabinoid hemp products containing more than 0.5 milligrams of total THC per serving and concentrates to anyone under 21 years of age.

Section 114.21. Effective Date. Amended to give licensees a limited period after the effective date of this Part to ensure cannabinoid hemp products sold in New York come into compliance and meet these proposed requirements.

Final rule as compared with last published rule: Nonsubstantial changes were made in section 114.10(l)(vii).

Revised Regulatory Impact Statement

Statutory Authority:

Section 13 of the Cannabis Law provides, in part, that the Cannabis Control Board (Board) shall adopt such rules and regulations as the Board may deem necessary or proper to fully effectuate the provisions of the Cannabis Law. Section 9l of the Cannabis Law provides, in part, that the Board is authorized to make rules and regulations governing cannabinoid hemp products that are processed and sold to consumers in New York State.

Legislative Objectives:

The legislative objective of Article 5 of the Cannabis Law is to comprehensively regulate the processing and sale of cannabinoid hemp products in New York State.

Needs and Benefits:

These regulations are necessary to immediately allow the Office to address several challenges with the processing of cannabinoid hemp products in New York State and to protect public health, safety, and the general welfare of consumers in New York State from the immediate threat posed by the processing and retail sale of intoxicating cannabinoid hemp products in New York State. The rule establishes limits on the total THC and cannabinoid levels and a minimum allowable CBD:THC ratio (15:1) in cannabinoid hemp products to ensure that consumers are not misled by these products' marketing and that these products truly are not better suited for the adult-use cannabis marketplace. The limits on total THC and cannabinoid levels in cannabinoid hemp products include orally consumed cannabinoid hemp products restricted to no more than 10 milligrams (mg) of total THC per package, 1 mg of total THC per individual serving, 3,000 μ g of total cannabinoids per package and 100 mg of total cannabinoids per individual serving, and tinctures restricted to no more than 100 mg of total THC per package and 4,000 mg of total cannabinoids per package. Additionally, these regulations include revisions to the cannabinoid hemp retailer prohibitions which includes prohibiting the sale of any cannabinoid hemp product containing over 0.5 milligrams of total THC per serving to individuals under the age of twenty-one (21).

The Office reviewed other jurisdictions' laws and regulations around THC limits imposed on cannabinoid hemp products, available peer-reviewed literature, and other states' "task force" recommendations.

The 2018 Farm Bill was designed to address THC concentration in biomass utilizing a 0.3% concentration of THC to define hemp. The Department of Health also made an effort to address the occurrence of THC in cannabinoid hemp products through draft regulations under Part 1005, which laid the foundation for what ultimately became Part 114. This weight-based concentration limit, however, has not been sufficient to restrict the development and sale of new products with intoxicating levels of THC. In drafting the cannabinoid hemp regulations, the Office completed a regulatory analysis of the eight states with THC limits imposed on cannabinoid hemp products, the available peer reviewed literature, and task force recommendations from three states that convened task forces, as well as analyzed numerous studies to determine an appropriate level of THC in cannabinoid hemp products.

The Office found, among other things, that:

- Three (3) studies have found that the concentration of 2.5 mg of THC is the point where intoxicating effects on an average healthy adult begin to be detected;
- 5 mg of THC is considered the standard dose that causes impairment;
- The Cannabis Regulators Association (CANNRA) has indicated that limiting THC as mg per serving is more effective than percentage-based limits as the latter creates variation in allowable amounts based on the weight of inactive ingredients in the cannabinoid hemp product;
- One (1) state (Vermont) has enacted a minimum ratio requirement of CBD to THC of 20:1 in combination with a THC limit per serving for specific cannabinoid hemp product forms; and
- Colorado regulations employ a recommended THC limit of 2.5 mg per serving of cannabinoid hemp products in combination with a 15:1 CBD:THC ratio.

The Office reached out to businesses for implementation and impact input. Considerations for the concerns of businesses are reflected in the regulations by way of implementation timeframes for labeling and ensuring that these regulations do not unduly impact current production and transportation of these products within New York State.

These regulations include revisions to the packaging, labeling, marketing, and advertising requirements for cannabinoid hemp products to include among other changes, product warnings, potency levels, recommended serving sizes and clear usage instructions. The revisions to the packaging, labeling, marketing, and advertising accord with the Cannabis Law to ensure products are safe for consumers and not targeted to youth, which includes among other changes, prohibiting cannabinoid hemp products from being attractive to individuals under the age of twenty-one (21), displaying false statements or health claims, and promoting overconsumption.

These rules also include revisions to the current laboratory testing requirements for cannabinoid hemp products to conform with testing limits in the adult-use and medical cannabis programs.

Finally, revisions will be adopted to rectify some inconsistencies in terms used with the revised adult-use regulations that are currently in public comment period. These updates would eliminate any potential confusion in how the adult-use and cannabinoid hemp terms are understood.

Costs:

Costs for the Implementation of, and Continuing Compliance with the Regulation to the Regulated Entity:

The Office discussed anticipated costs for packaging and labeling with other states who have already implemented and currently oversee existing adult-use cannabis programs. Costs vary significantly and fall primarily on individual licensees, not oversight entities, therefore, other regulators were unable to speak to these costs, however, costs are anticipated to be commensurate with the costs of other consumer goods. The licensees will be required to ensure all packaging and labeling of cannabinoid hemp products are in accordance with these regulations and the Cannabis Law and will be required to obtain packaging and labeling that meets the amended requirements. There will also be a cost to come into compliance with the ratio and proportional requirements as well as laboratory testing that was not required before.

Costs to State and Local Governments:

The rule does not require the state or local government to perform any additional tasks beyond those contemplated under the Cannabis Law and therefore the Office does not anticipate a cost associated to the regulations.

Costs to the Office of Cannabis Management:

The rule may result in additional operational costs to The Office of Cannabis Management to ensure all cannabinoid hemp licensees are in compliance with these regulations.

Local Government Mandates:

The rule does not impose any new programs, services, duties, or responsibilities on local government.

Paperwork:

Licensees shall maintain sufficient records and documentation as required in Part 114 and Cannabis Law.

Duplication:

The emergency rule does not duplicate any existing State or federal requirements that are applicable to a regulated cannabinoid hemp program.

Alternatives:

When drafting the emergency regulations, the Office considered a multitude of legislation and regulations that have already been promulgated in other States where cannabinoid hemp is regulated, including but not limited to: Colorado's legislation which authorized the Department of Public Health and Environment to prohibit the chemical modification, conversion, or synthetic derivation of intoxicating tetrahydrocannabinol isomers that originate from industrial hemp or may be synthetically derived and limit hemp products to no more than 0.3% Delta-9 THC concentration; Oregon's regulations which prohibited synthetic cannabinoids and limit hemp products to no more than 0.3% THC, and Washington's review of hemp in food policies and that all hemp products are limited to 1 mg of Delta-9 THC per serving and 3 mg of Delta-9 THC per package, further defining any hemp products over these limits as cannabis products. The revised language is adopted from similar provisions and best practices in other states to best address the needs of New York State and to protect public health from the processing and retail sale of intoxicating cannabinoid hemp products by including provisions governing the ratio of CBD to THC in cannabinoid hemp products, and the total THC and cannabinoid limit in cannabinoid hemp products.

Federal Standards:

The 2018 Farm Bill directed the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) to establish a national regulatory framework for hemp cultivation in the United States. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has authority to regulate cannabinoids. USDA established the U.S. Domestic Hemp Production Program through an interim final rule; however, the FDA is just beginning the rulemaking process and therefore, there are currently no federal standards for cannabinoid hemp processors or cannabinoid hemp retailers.

Compliance Schedule:

The regulations will take effect upon filing of a Notice of Adoption in the New York State Register. The provisions concerning: CBD to THC ra-to in which the CBD is 15:1 or higher, if the product is consumed orally; new THC package and serving size limits; certain products be submitted for review and approval by the Office before such products can be sold; and new packaging requirements on cannabinoid hemp products intended for inhalation or vaporization or products that are orally consumed will be effective ninety (90) days subsequent to the effective date of the initial filing. However, cannabinoid hemp products sold in New York must meet the requirements concerning: new and updated packaging and labeling requirements, prohibitions on images in advertising cannabinoid hemp products which appeal to children or anyone under 18 years of age; recommended serving sizes; product warnings; rules governing font size, and general advertising requirements by January 1, 2024.

Revised Regulatory Flexibility Analysis

Effect of Rule:

These regulations are necessary to immediately allow the Office to address several challenges with the processing of cannabinoid hemp products in New York State and to protect public health, safety, and the general welfare of consumers in New York State from the threat posed by the processing and retail sale of intoxicating cannabinoid hemp products. While the Office believes that the regulatory amendments may impact small business entities licensed and regulated by Part 114 or the Office, the Office does not currently have data that can inform on how many of those entities would qualify as a small business or local government.

Compliance Requirements:

The regulations establish limits on the total THC and cannabinoid levels and establish a minimum allowable CBD:THC ratio (15:1) in cannabinoid hemp products to ensure that consumers are not misled by these products' marketing and that these products truly are not better suited for the adult-use cannabis marketplace. The rules include revisions to the current laboratory testing requirements for cannabinoid hemp products; and requirements for the packaging, labeling, marketing, and advertising of cannabinoid hemp products. Additionally, revisions have been made to rectify some inconsistencies in these terms to align with the revised adult-use regulations. These updates eliminate any potential confusion in how the adult-use and cannabinoid hemp terms are understood. Cannabinoid hemp products sold in New York must meet the requirements concerning: new and updated packaging and labeling requirements, prohibitions on images in advertising cannabinoid hemp products which appeal to children or anyone under 18 years of age; recommended serving sizes; product warnings; rules governing font size, and general advertising requirements by January 1, 2024.

Professional Services:

No professional services will be required of local governments. While it is contemplated that all businesses licensed to sell hemp products may need to utilize or hire professionals to ensure the CBD to THC levels comply with the new standards and that the packaging and labeling are also within the requirements of the regulation, the need for professional services is uniform across all cannabinoid hemp products and does not have a specific requirement for small businesses.

Compliance Costs:

There may be additional compliance costs to existing small business establishments since the regulations make changes to current standards and there will be costs for compliance with these new requirements. Cost may include, but are not limited to, compliance with minimum allowable ratios between CBD and THC; new limits on THC levels, new packaging and labeling requirements as well as new testing requirements that conform with testing requirements for both adult-use and medical cannabis programs. There will also be compliance costs to the Office and to licensed entities and unlicensed entities who commit a violation to these new requirements and/or who may be subject to conciliation conference, corrective action, or hearings.

Economic and Technological Feasibility:

This rule is economically and technologically feasible. The rule does not impose any unique technological or economic challenges to small businesses or local governments compared to other similar industries such as stores selling homeopathic remedies. The Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018 (2018 Farm Bill) decriminalized hemp and hemp seeds by removing them from the Drug Enforcement Administration's (DEA)'s schedule of controlled substances. This rule imposes no new requirements that would require new technology or cause an economic change, whether by taxation or otherwise, for any small business or local government. Moreover, Part 114 followed the proposed regulations drafted by the Department of Health under Part 1005, which was the State's first attempt to establish the regulatory framework for THC limitations in cannabinoid hemp products, at a time when the New York State Department of Health governed the cannabinoid hemp program.

Minimizing Adverse Impact:

These regulations will allow the Office to address current challenges with the processing and retail sale of cannabinoid hemp products in New York State, protect public health and safety by, among other things, limiting the THC content of these products and ensuring consumers are not misled by these products' marketing. The Office has attempted to minimize adverse impacts to the extent possible, including a phase in of some requirements, but the need for protecting the health and welfare of the residents is paramount. These regulations do not create an adverse impact to small businesses and local governments.

Small Business and Local Government Participation:

The hemp industry, including small businesses, have known for some time that THC limits in cannabinoid hemp products is an ongoing issue, dating back to the inception of the cannabinoid hemp program under the Department of Health, and would likely be addressed in regulation in the future. The initial adoption of Part 114 included language providing that the Board shall issue regulations imposing limits for different hemp products to allow the Board and Office to determine safe THC levels for hemp products at a future time. The Office met with many stakeholders when it initially considered THC levels in hemp derived artificial cannabinoids and manufactured products and first acted to prohibit Delta 8, Delta 10, and other isomer versions of THC. To address the continuing need to further address intoxicating levels of hemp, including the evolution and proliferation of Delta 9 hemp derived products, the Office created an Intoxicating Hemp Workgroup (IHW), which was tasked with reviewing intoxicating levels of THC in hemp products. The work of the IHW informed the development of these regulations. The Office also reached out to businesses to gather information related to the implementation and impact of the regulation. Considerations for the concerns of businesses are reflected in the regulations by way of implementation timeframes for labeling and ensuring that these regulations do not unduly impact current production and transportation of these products in New York State.

The rule was developed in response to feedback from public health groups, state agencies, and advocates and who also provided feedback and suggestions for revisions to the cannabinoid hemp regulations.

Revised Rural Area Flexibility Analysis

A Rural Area Flexibility Analysis is not being submitted with these rules because changes made to the regulations do not necessitate any changes to the previously published Rural Area Flexibility Analysis.

Revised Job Impact Statement

A Job Impact Statement is not being submitted with these rules because changes made to the regulations do not necessitate any changes to the previously published Job Impact Statement.

Assessment of Public Comment

The New York State Cannabis Control Board (the "Board") and the Office of Cannabis Management (the "Office"), collectively, received approximately 218 distinct comments in response to the proposed regulations amending Title 9 of the New York Codes, Rules and Regulations (NYCRR), Part 114 (Cannabinoid Hemp) relating to the processing and retail sale of cannabinoid hemp products in New York State. Notice of emergency adoption and proposed rulemaking was filed for publication on the State Register on July 27, 2023. Public comments were received from August 9 through October 10, 2023. The Office received an approximate total of 218 distinct comments submitted from 86 individuals and organizations on the proposed regulations during this period. Commenters included a state government official, hemp industry advocacy organization, hemp industry stakeholders, local health departments, public health associations, public health partner organizations as well as members of the public offering their own expertise on the proposed regulations.

This Summary of Assessment of Public Comment provides an overview of comments received during the public comment period and the Office's responses. The full Assessment of Public Comment provides a response to all comments received during the public comment period and can be viewed on the Office's website.

The Office did receive comment expressing support for the proposed regulations and the urgent need for uniform federal level guidance and regulation regarding the classification of hemp-derived products and considering interstate commerce and online sales of cannabinoid hemp products.

Most comments received on the proposed regulations expressed concerns about losing access to cannabinoid hemp products and hemp-derived products in New York. Commenters noted that the proposed regulations prevent access to cannabinoid hemp products that are affordable and beneficial for health and wellness purposes; that the increased pricing of products due to the proposed regulations; doubt that the proposed regulations will prevent consumers looking to become intoxicated from overconsuming cannabinoid hemp products. Commenters asserted that the proposed regulations do not promote public safety and instead pushes consumers to the unregulated market and other state markets to access and purchase cannabinoid hemp products.

Several commenters provided feedback on the proposed CBD to THC ratio requirement, THC potency limits per serving and per package, and the cannabinoid content limit in cannabinoid hemp products. Comments were received which suggested other CBD to THC ratios and various ways at limiting or restricting the amount of cannabinoids and THC per serving and per package. Commenters explained that further research and study is needed on CBD to create regulations that maintain consumer safety and support cannabinoid hemp businesses. Some commenters recommended increasing the THC limits for cannabinoid hemp beverages. Comments were received suggesting that increased availability of lower potency cannabinoid hemp products outside the dispensary setting has the potential to significantly increase sales tax revenue in the state. Other commenters proposed sales tax on cannabinoid hemp products containing over 1 milligram of THC similar to models proposed by other states. Some commenters stated sales taxes can be used towards social equity programs for cannabinoid hemp and cannabis entrepreneurs.

In drafting the hemp regulations, the Office reviewed numerous studies and completed a regulatory analysis of the several states with THC limits imposed on cannabinoid hemp products, the available peer reviewed literature, and task force recommendations from three (3) states that convened task forces, as well as analyzed numerous studies to determine an appropriate level of THC in cannabinoid hemp products.

Comments were received with suggestions on the packaging and labeling requirements of cannabinoid hemp products stating that the product requirements set forth in the proposed regulations will negatively impact hemp manufacturers and retailers, leading to burdensome costs and environmental waste due to repackaging and relabeling. Some commenters recommended the use of alternative child-proof packaging, similar to ones used in other states. Other commenters noted their agreement with the effective date of January 1, 2024 for business to come into compliance with the revised packaging, labeling, and advertising requirements.

Several comments were received in disagreement with the packaging requirement and the single serving limit for cannabinoid hemp beverages suggesting that multiple servings per product be allowed without restricting how they are divided up in the package. Other commenters expressed concern about the cost of reformulation and repackaging of cannabinoid hemp products containing multiple servings and cannabinoid hemp beverages for businesses and increased pricing for consumers as a result. Commenters expressed that the single serving packaging requirement for cannabinoid hemp beverages unfairly burdens the cannabinoid hemp beverage market. Some commenters voiced concern because they interpreted that the measuring device requirement for multiple servings applies to cannabinoid hemp beverages. Commenters stated the new packaging requirements for hemp beverages are wasteful and raised concerns about the impact on the environment.

Comments were received on the testing requirements for cannabinoid hemp products with some advocating for comprehensive testing requirements to ensure that consumers have access to accurately dosed and safe products while recommending to keep cannabinoid hemp products legal for retail sale allows for scientific testing to be completed with less stringent rules. There was emphasis again on the financial burden to incorporate the additional required testing proposed in the regulations. Comments were received requesting a sell-through period to ensure an orderly transition for cannabinoid hemp businesses, recommending extending the effective date to allow the industry reasonable time to come into compliance with the proposed regulations, citing again the financial difficulty in meeting compliance by the established effective date. Other commenters noted their agreement with the effective date of January 1, 2024 for business to come into compliance with the revised packaging, labeling, and advertising requirements.

Several commenters were received agreeing with the establishment of a minimum age to purchase cannabinoid hemp products, however some did not agree with 0.5 milligrams of THC or more per serving limit for those 21 and older as the appropriate limit, suggesting, rather, to establish the minimum age to purchase cannabinoid hemp products at either 18 or 21 years old. Commenters suggested that along with an appropriate THC limit, regulatory requirements such as, mandatory licensing, product labeling requirements, packaging and retail sale age restrictions, can help to ensure potentially intoxicating products are not appealable or accessible to minors.

Some commenters suggested allowing business such as bars and liquor stores to obtain a license to sell cannabinoid hemp products. The recommendation authorizing liquor stores to sell cannabinoid hemp products is out of scope of the Board's rulemaking authority.

Several comments stated the proposed regulations negatively impact businesses and place undue burdens on businesses including small businesses, women and minority owned businesses, local farmers, retail stores, distributors, and manufacturers operating in New York and will force them to take their businesses out of state because the CBD and THC requirements prevent businesses from selling many of their current cannabinoid hemp products and decreases their ability to provide a diverse range of products. Commenters noted the proposed regulations decrease cannabinoid hemp business production, sales, revenue, and the number of jobs available.

Comments were received regarding the importance of enforcement in the cannabinoid hemp product industry and the implementation of regulatory frameworks to ensure products meet the proposed requirements. Commenters urged for collaboration between industry stakeholders, regulatory agencies, and law enforcement to ensure effective enforcement of cannabinoid hemp products as well as assessing the practicality of effectively monitoring and enforcing the proposed THC limits. Commenters also recommended the development of comprehensive education and awareness campaigns focused on promoting responsible use.

Comments were received expressing that the proposed regulations contradict efforts to decriminalize cannabis and further contributes to unjust law enforcement against marginalized groups because the wide availability of cannabinoid hemp products promotes equity and access to cannabinoid hemp products in disadvantaged communities.

Commenters requested the inclusion of smokable hemp flower products in cannabinoid hemp retail spaces. Other commenters recommended an increase in total THC allowance for hemp flower products. One commenter expressed that the proposed regulations restrict the retail sale of synthetic products to consumers.

Comments were received stating that the proposed regulations may unduly affect interstate commerce and hinder the free flow of cannabinoid hemp products across state lines. Commenters proposed amendments to the regulation to clearly allow for the sale of federally legal hemp-derived products prohibited in New York, outside of the state. The Office clarified that the proposed regulations were not drafted to prevent hemp-derived products that are prohibited in New York from being sold out of state.

The Office clarified that intoxicating cannabinoid hemp products are better suited for the Adult-Use Cannabis Program where additional safeguards are in place to prevent youth and adolescent use and to protect public health, safety, and welfare of consumers in New York State. There was insufficient and inconsistent information being provided with respect to changes in the regulatory framework around CBD and THC limits. In drafting the hemp regulations, the Office completed a regulatory analysis of the eight (8) states with THC limits imposed on cannabinoid hemp products, the available peer reviewed literature, and task force recommendations from three (3) states that convened task forces, as well as analyzed numerous studies to determine an appropriate level of THC in cannabinoid hemp products. The Office will continue to monitor safety data concerning CBD, with a commitment to improving our regulatory framework. No technical or substantive changes were deemed necessary for the proposed regulations, but the Office may consider guidance to clarify any discrepancies in the regulation and continue safety data monitoring to improve the proposed regulatory framework.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING
NO HEARING(S) SCHEDULED

Transfer of Street Lighting Facilities

I.D. No. PSC-50-23-00016-P

PURSUANT TO THE PROVISIONS OF THE State Administrative Procedure Act, NOTICE is hereby given of the following proposed rule:

Proposed Action: The Commission is considering a petition filed by Niagara Mohawk Power Corporation d/b/a National Grid seeking authorization to transfer certain street lighting facilities in the City of Oswego to the City of Oswego.

Statutory authority: Public Service Law, sections 5, 65, 66 and 70(1)

Subject: Transfer of street lighting facilities.

Purpose: To determine whether to authorize the transfer street of lighting facilities and the proper accounting for the transaction.

Substance of proposed rule: The Public Service Commission (Commission) is considering a petition filed on October 30, 2023, by Niagara Mohawk Power Corporation d/b/a National Grid (National Grid), requesting authorization to transfer certain street lighting facilities located in the City of Oswego (City) to the City.

The original cost of the facilities was approximately $3,549,824 and the net book value of the assets was $2,100,026, as of August 31, 2023. National Grid proposes to transfer the street lighting facilities to the City for approximately $2,171,656, which includes the net book value of the assets as well as transition and transaction costs. National Grid explains that the agreement provides that the purchase price will be adjusted to reflect the actual net book value at the date of the closing.

The petition states that the City intends to install light-emitting diode luminaries as a means of reducing energy consumption, and that the transfer will have no effect on the electric service provided by National Grid to the City of other ratepayers.

The full text of the petition and the full record of the proceeding may be viewed online at the Department of Public Service web page: www.dps.ny.gov. The Commission may adopt, reject, or modify, in whole or in part, the action proposed and may resolve related matters.

Text of proposed rule and any required statements and analyses may be obtained by filing a Document Request Form (F-96) located on our website http://www.dps.ny.gov/f96dir.htm. Regulatory Impact Statement

I. Statutory authority:
 New York Executive Law section 160-d authorizes the New York State Board of Real Estate Appraisal (the "Board") to adopt regulations in aid or furtherance of Article 6-E of the Executive Law. One of the purposes of Article 6-E is to ensure, among other things, that appraisers comply with national standards for uniform appraisal practices. To meet this purpose, the Department of State (the "Department"), in conjunction with the Board, has issued rules and regulations which are found at Chapter XXXI of Title 19 of the NYCRR and is proposing this rule making.

2. Legislative objectives:

Pursuant to Executive Law, Article 6-E, the Department, in conjunction with the Board, licenses and regulates real estate appraisers and real estate appraisers' assistants. To provide protections against unqualified persons, the Article requires, in part, that appraisers meet minimum national standards for appraisal practice. The proposed rule advances this legislative objective by ensuring that individuals holding a license or certification prepare and communicate appraisals according to new federal minimum standards set to go into effect on January 1, 2024.

3. Needs and benefits:

This rule is needed to comply with State and federal standards regarding minimum appraisal standards. Failure to update the current standards would preclude certain appraisals from being approved for federally related transactions. Accordingly, updating the standards would not only satisfy State law obligations but would also ensure the continued employment of appraisers within the State and security of certain federally related financial transactions.

4. Costs:

a. Costs to regulated parties:

The Department anticipates no significant costs to licensed or certified appraisers to comply with this rule. The Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice (USPAP) will be made available to interested parties upon request and is readily available, for purchase, directly from the Appraisal Foundation. Licensed and certified appraisers have had to comply with USPAP since at least 2004.

b. Costs to the Department of State:

The Department does not anticipate any additional costs to implement the rule; The USPAP has been updated periodically without costs to the Department.

c. Costs to New York State and its local governments:

No additional costs to the State or local governments are anticipated, as the USPAP has been updated periodically without costs to these political subdivisions.

5. Local government mandates:

The rule does not impose any program, service, duty or responsibility upon any county, city, town, village, school district or other special district.

6. Paperwork:

The rule imposes no additional paperwork requirements on interested parties.

7. Duplication:

This rule does not duplicate, overlap or conflict with any other State or federal requirement.

8. Alternatives:

No other alternatives were considered as the Department is required, under the provisions of the NYS Executive Law, to ensure licensed and certified appraiser meet minimum federal standards for uniform appraisal practices.

9. Federal standards:

The Federal Appraisal Subcommittee (ASC) is granted authority by Title XI of the Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery and Enforcement Act of 1989 (Title XI), to establish the minimum qualifications for real property appraisers performing appraisals for federally related transactions. States are required to implement appraiser qualifications that are no less stringent than those issued by the ASC. This rule therefore complies with federal standards.

10. Compliance schedule:

The rule will go into effect on January 1, 2024.

Regulatory Flexibility Analysis

1. Effect of rule:

The proposed rulemaking amends current appraisal standards to conform to new federal minimum standards that will go into effect on January 1, 2024. The rule does not apply to local governments. There are approximately 4,000 licensed and certified appraisers that would be required to comply with the new standards.

2. Compliance requirements:

After January 1, 2024, appraisers will have to comply with new federal minimum standards for appraisal practices.

3. Professional services:

Small businesses and local governments will not need professional services to comply with this rule. As is evident by the nature of this rulemaking, this proposal conforms NYS standards to non-discretionary federal standards. Similar updates have been made since at least 2004 without reliance on professional services.

4. Compliance costs:

The Department does not anticipate significant additional costs to appraisers. The Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice (USPAP) is readily available to affected professionals.

5. Economic and technical feasibility:

It is technologically feasible for small businesses to comply with the proposed rule. As noted previously, the USPAP has been updated periodically since at least 2004 and appraisers have been able to comply with each update.

6. Minimizing adverse economic impact:

The Department did not identify any alternatives which would achieve the results of the proposed rules, and at the same time, be less restrictive and less burdensome on them in terms of compliance, as the rule is required by statute. Accordingly, the approaches suggested in subdivision one of section 202-b of the State Administrative Procedure Act were not considered.

7. Small business and local government participation:

On November 27, 2023, the Department and the New York State Board of Real Estate Appraisal discussed at an open meeting these potential changes and voted to move forward the proposal. The public was invited to observe this meeting. No significant comments have been received with respect to the proposed rulemaking. In addition, the Notice of Proposed Rule Making will be published by the Department of State in the State Register. The publication of the rule in the State Register will also provide notice to interested parties in rural areas of the proposed rulemaking. Additional comments will be received and entertained.

8. Compliance:

The rule will be effective on January 1, 2024, to comply with non-discretionary State and federal requirements.

9. Cure Period:

The Department is not providing for a cure period prior to enforcement of these regulations, because the rule does not establish any new violations or penalties or modify any existing violations or penalties.

Rural Area Flexibility Analysis

1. Types and estimated numbers of rural areas:

The proposed rulemaking does not impose any adverse impact on rural areas. The proposed rule updates appraisal standards to the new federal standards, a non-discretionary action, which are set to go into effect on January 1, 2024.

2. Reporting, recordkeeping and other compliance requirements; and professional services:

The Department does not anticipate any additional reporting, recordkeeping and other compliance requirements of this rule or that professional services that are likely to be needed in rural areas to comply with the rule. All appraisers are required to comply with current Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice (USPAP) standards and so this proposal merely updates those standards to conform to mandated federal standards.

3. Costs:

The proposed rulemaking does not impose any costs on rural areas to comply with this rule that would not be applicable in other areas of the state.

4. Minimizing adverse impact:

There are no alternatives which would achieve the results of the proposed rule, and at the same time, be less restrictive and less burdensome, as the rule is required by statute. Accordingly, the approaches suggested in subdivision two of section 202-bb of the State Administrative Procedure Act were not considered.

5. Rural area participation:

On November 27, 2023, the Department and the New York State Board of Real Estate Appraisal discussed at an open meeting these potential changes and voted to move forward the proposal. The public was invited to observe this meeting. No comments have been received with respect to the proposed rulemaking. In addition, the Notice of Proposed Rule Making will be published by the Department of State in the State Register. The publication of the rule in the State Register will provide notice to interested parties in rural areas of the proposed rulemaking. Additional comments will be received and entertained.

Job Impact Statement

A Job Impact Statement is not required for the proposed regulatory amendments. It is apparent from the nature and the purpose of the proposed regulatory amendments that they will not have a substantial adverse impact on jobs and employment opportunities in either the public or private sectors.

Licensed and certified real estate appraisers are currently required to follow the standards existing in the current edition of the Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice, which will be revised and updated by the 2024 edition. The changes, which are required to be adopted, are not anticipated to impact job opportunities for real estate appraisers. Accordingly, the New York State Board of Real Estate Appraisal does not believe that adoption of the 2024 edition of the Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice will have any substantial adverse impact on jobs and employment opportunities. Additionally, correcting the address of one of the Department's offices will not impact jobs.

ACTION PENDING INDEX

The action pending index is a list of all proposed rules which are currently being considered for adoption. A proposed rule is added to the index when the notice of proposed rule making is first published in the Register. A proposed rule is removed from the index when any of the following occur: (1) the proposal is adopted as a permanent rule; (2) the proposal is rejected and withdrawn from consideration; or (3) the proposal's notice expires.

Most notices expire in approximately 12 months if the agency does not adopt or reject the proposal within that time. The expiration date is printed in the second column of the action pending index. Some notices, however, never expire. Those notices are identified by the word "exempt" in the second column. Actions pending for one year or more are preceded by an asterisk(*).

For additional information concerning any of the proposals listed in the action pending index, use the identification number to locate the text of the original notice of proposed rule making. The identification number contains a code which identifies the agency, the issue of the Register in which the notice was printed, the year in which the notice was printed and the notice's serial number. The following diagram shows how to read identification number codes.

However, if the Commissioner determines that the failure to pay or the delay in payment is due to reasonable cause and not willful neglect, the Commissioner may impose interest at the corporation tax late payment and assessment rate. That rate is 12% for this quarter.
