2018 State of the State Andrew M. Cuomo
Governor

children have health coverage—the highest level in history.

Advancing the progress of recent years, Governor Cuomo will make critical investments to strengthen early childhood programming and expand access to more New Yorkers.

Proposal: Invest When It Matters Most: The First 1,000 Days of Life

The basic structure of the brain is developed in the first 1,000 days of a child's life.²² Positive experiences are critical for development, and adverse childhood experiences partially explain significant disparities in health and learning by the time children enter school. About 40 percent of children enter school developmentally behind national standards,²³ or "not school ready," which may cause developmental problems that impair children's future growth in cognitive, emotional and social skills.^{24 25}

Because nearly 60 percent of all children ages zero to three in New York are covered by Medicaid, the

Implementation Plan

Kalin Scott, Director, Medicaid Redesign Team

Progress to Date

Internal DOH working groups formed for each proposal

Beginning to meet weekly to form individual implementation plans

Stakeholder outreach strategies being developed:

- Formal workgroups (where stated in proposal language)
- Advisory panels (informal consultation where needed)

Evaluation Workgroup

Goals:

- Define metrics and strategies for evaluating First 1,000 Days over multiple years based on scaffolding provided by the First 1,000 Days Workgroup;
- Develop guidance to DOH internal workgroups on how to select proposal-specific metrics; work with those workgroups as needed;
- Analyze results over time

Engagement: Co-Chairs will be selected in February/March, members who expressed interest in joining will be contacted shortly thereafter

First 1,000 Days Workgroup Going Forward

- This workgroup will reconvene in April via webinar for a budget update
- Workgroup will reconvene periodically thereafter for progress updates and to solicit guidance on implementation and expanding the reach of First 1000 Days

Questions?

Talking to New Yorkers About First 1,000 Days

Kate Breslin, Vice-Chair, First 1,000 Days on Medicaid

- An important start – planting of a seed
- Not brand new – integrated into existing efforts/initiatives
- Cross-sectoral
- Even though FY 2018-19 proposed investment is relatively small, important to talk about it, explain it, keep it in the budget
